Motion for late Objection

Case number: 39576

Subcase:67-15210

1.The claim for disallowance is that the water comes from a diverted system developed by the BLM. The BLM did provide some materials but local ranchers and the Crosley brothers constructed and provided the labor to develop the water. Since the BLM owns no livestock, the purpose to create these systems was to water the livestock that belonged to permittees, who are predecessors-in-interest to Chandlers. This is historically how these water rights were developed for the sole purpose of watering the livestock on these grazing allotments. Ever since it inception this system has been used to water the livestock of all the stockmen who run on these allotments and put it beneficial use.

2. Livestock had traditionally watered in the immediate vicinity and in interviews it is implied that there was some sort of system that had been there prior to the BLM and ranchers' diversion in 1973.
